TORRENS BRILLIANT IN AIR

DEFEAT NORWOOD BY TWENTY-FOUR POINTS

Winners Can Still Improve Their System

(By O. J. O'Grady, "The Mail" Special Football Writer)

Torrens' win over Norwood today may be attributed to their superiority in the air. In this department Torrens gave a brilliant display, and Lampe was supreme.

Norwood lacked effectiveness as soon as Biddell lost his accuracy.

The redlegs also indulged in futile short passing at times.

Had Torrens' forwards kept the game open the winning margin of the gold-and-blues may have been much greater. If Torrens can remedy this weakness they may achieve further successes this season. If they fail to do this their performances are likely to be inconsistent. Not in every match will Lampe mark so brilliantly, and more or less, overcome the faulty tactics of the rest of the forward lines.

PORT HARD-PRESSED

Glenelg's Prominence Due to Owens

ISSUE IN DOUBT TO NEAR END

Matching their pace with Port, Glenelg ran the magpies to a thrilling finish on Adelaide Oval today.

The game was in doubt until five minutes to go, when Port scored the necessary points to make their position safe. Even then they managed to win by only 13 points.

It was a brilliant effort on the part of Glenelg, and greatly due to the fine work of Owens in front of goals. He kicked seven of the 12 full-pointers scored by his side.

Taken all through, the Bay men had the better of the play, but their forwards missed opportunities.

A strict interpretation of the rule relating to running with the ball was given by Mr. J. F. S. Monten (central umpire). Port adapted themselves to the interpretation better than Glenelg, with the result that more free kicks came their way than was the case with the Bay men.

Port were as chosen. F. Wiese was an absentee from Glenelg, and H. Baker was included in the side.

Johnson won the toss, and elected to kick toward the river goal. Play eddied between the half-back lines for the first few minutes. Glenelg were first to break through with a goal from Owens, after Terrell had relieved twice. A good low kick by T. Quinn and a miskick by W. Hill (Glenelg) gave Logan two chances to score, but a single was the only result.

Play had been slow, with Port having the better of matters. Handby was playing a solid game in defence for the Bay men. Beginning from Coleman at centre, Glenelg developed attacks that ended in Owens and Winkler goaling. The yellow-and-blacks were playing good, open football. Handby and Sexton were prominent in the next attack, which found Owens in the left pocket. He snapped the fourth goal. In a few minutes Glenelg had brought about a great change in the play for the quarter.

Graves had Port on the move with a great kick from the centre, but two free shots brought only a single. Dayman kicked out of bounds, and T. Quinn put the score on the board.

The magpies secured a goal from Hender, and a long shot from Galliford brought another. In the play preceding this score Coleman went down from a bump on the back of the head. Dayman led out well to receive a pass from Logan, but his kick went across the main opening for a single. Glenelg were putting up a great defence against a strong offensive by Port. Before the quarter closed the Bays added a behind from Owens.

First Quarter

GLENELG 4-2
PORT 2-3

In the first term Handby and T. Quinn had been the outstanding players for their sides. Going forward from the bounce in the second quarter, Port had a behind on the board from Logan within a minute. V. Johnson sent well in to Dayman, who scored a goal from an angle. R. Johnson and Mott stopped Glenelg, and Hender battled his way through and sent the ball well in. Dayman took a great mark, and put Port in front with a goal.

Lloyd had been showing out on a wing, and it was mainly through his efforts that Glenelg had the ball among their forwards, but it went out of bounds. Port cleared, and exciting play followed in front of goal, where the black-and-whites fought desperately to score. Several players handled the ball before Ween snapped it through the tall uprights.

The ball was sent to Logan from the bounce, but he missed an easy shot, a behind being kicked. Barbary and Lloyd combined well to send Glenelg in, and after several attacks had been turned Owens marked and kicked his fourth goal. Light rain began to fall.

Hender had been playing well at half-forward. He put Dayman in possession, but a placed shot went across the goal out of bounds. T. Quinn made amends with a goal. Glenelg were forcing the ball in as the bell rang.

Second Quarter

PORT 6-6
GLENELG 5-2

Sexton replaced Coleman at centre after the interval. Lloyd and Handby were prominent for Glenelg. Owens marked within distance, but kicked a behind. At the other end Dayman scored the possible for Port after taking a good mark. Play was faster than it had been in the first half. Going along the eastern wing, Glenelg sent well in. Owens raced smartly to the ball, and snapped the sixth goal for Glenelg.

Glenelg were full of running, and K. Olliver got another goal after marking well. Logan was given a free at the other end when running in with an open goal ahead of him. His shot went true, a goal being hoisted. Dayman got the next goal.

Owens was the shining star of the Glenelg attack. He got the eighth goal for the side, seven of which had come from his boot.

The pace increased as the quarter progressed. Purdy, with a goal from a running shot, put Glenelg within two points of Port, but the magpies regained their advantage in a few seconds, Galliford getting a goal at the other end.

Third Quarter

PORT 10-6
GLENELG 9-4

Within 15 seconds of the bounce of the ball C. Hill had snapped the tenth goal for Glenelg. This brought the yellow-and-blacks for the second occasion within two points of Port. Port were on the attack from the bounce, but Glenelg showed a determined front. In going through, T. Quinn was given a free, and goaled. Glenelg were still fighting hard for the lead. After taking two good marks Owens could manage only two singles. Maywald was penalised for running too far with the ball. Winkler took the kick and got a single.

Again Owens did well. His kick took the ball to the front of the sticks, where Coleman was given a free. His kick hoisted the eleventh goal for his side, making the score level. The spectators were in a high pitch of excitement. Both teams fought for the lead. Glenelg were turned and Port rushed the ball down, to see T. Quinn snap a goal. Behinds from Logan and Hender made the position a trifle more safe for Port.

R. Johnson was knocked out in a scrimmage as Glenelg went forward again. The Bay men were fighting to the last. With only a couple of minutes to go Port got another goal from Logan, making their position unassailable. Well shepherded by Owens Winkler got the twelfth goal for Glenelg. Scores:—

INTERESTING FINISH

STURT DOWNED AT UNLEY

Fine Last Quarter Effort

West seemed to have Sturt well in hand in the first half of the game at Unley. In the third quarter, however, Sturt made an impressive recovery, and the last quarter was strenuously contested.

The city team finished with a trifle more dash than Sturt, and that probably accounted for their victory. Until the last couple of minutes the issue was in the balance, and R. Snell (West pivot) clinched the game with a goal about a minute before the end.

NORTH OUTCLASS SOUTH

MARGIN OF 83 POINTS

Many Frees Against City Side

With the exception of the first quarter South were totally outclassed at Prospect by North today. The red-and-whites ran out winners by 83 points. In the previous encounter at Adelaide Oval South were victors.

North received many more frees than their opponents, but without this advantage would have won fairly easily. It was one of the worst games played by South this season.

NORTH 2-4 9-6 14-12 20-14
SOUTH 3-0 3-1 6-2 8-3

Goalkeepers.—North—Futler, McDowall, and Farmer (each 4), Williams (3), Tobin and Drew (each 2), and Munn. South—Margitich (3), Patch (2), Oliver, Roberts, and Mastors.

Best Players.—North—Futler, Taylor, Fleet, Williams, McDowall, Dhen, and Conrad. South—Mackay, Tully, Roberts, O'Brien, Masters, and O'Connell.

CLOSE-UPS OF PLAYERS

GLENELG had two good rovers in C. Hill and A. Link. The lastnamed was busy all day on the outskirts of the rucks, and his dashing work and accurate passing made him prominent throughout the game.

J. Owens showed his best form for Glenelg today. At one stage of the game he had kicked seven out of eight goals scored by his team. He went into the crushes with judgment and marked in good style.

In defence for Glenelg, J. Handby was as solid as a rock. His dashes from the half-back line were well judged, and it was seldom that he failed to clear with a ong, telling kick.

J. Sexton was a solid battler for Glenelg against Port. At centre half-forward in the first half, and centre in the second, he played well. Another to show out was L. Griffiths on the half-back line.

J. Lloyd was the outstanding player of the Glenelg centreline against Port. He had the better of matters with T. Wiese. His work on the whole was of high standard.

Once more L. C. Dayman was the star of the Port forward line. He was closely watched by L. Sallis, but despite this brought down some great marks, and kicked four goals.

M. Allingham was the outstanding player for Port today. On the pivot he instituted many successful attacks. His leading out, ground play, and passing were excellent.

Scouting with judgment on the fringe of the packs, T. Quinn showed fine form for Port. His ground play was excellent, and his low passing was a feature of the game. He has mastered stabkicking.
