

North, Sturt, Port, and Norwood Win League Football Matches

TORRENS DROP BACK INTO FOURTH POSITION

Every League Team Has Been Beaten by Strong Unley Side

CLOSEST FINISH AT GLENLEG

CONDUCTED BY O. J. O'GRADY

By defeating West today, Sturt have now beaten every league team. Torrens' defeat by North means that they will drop back to fourth position, Norwood move up to second, and North into third place on the premiership list. Port's victory over Glenelg brings the magpies into fifth position, Glenelg dropping two places to sixth.

At Adelaide, Sturt amassed a big score against West, but the game lacked science. West were individually almost as good as their opponents, but weak forward play and little team work prevented them threatening danger to the weakened Sturt side at any stage.

The surprise of the day was the defeat of Glenelg, on their home ground, by Port. The magpies led in the early stages, mainly as a result of remarkable forward accuracy, but in the closing stages their forwards lapsed, and Glenelg were defeated by one point.

South made a great showing against Norwood, losing by only eight points after having got to within two points of their opponents. This game produced poor football, the only redeeming features being the close finish, and the great goalkicking of C. C. Munro, the South recruit, who scored 10 goals.

After having made a great game of it with North for three terms, Torrens were outplayed in the final stages, and the Prospect side won comfortably.

HEAVY DEFEAT FOR WEST

Sturt inflicted a crushing defeat of 62 points on West at Adelaide, but even in winning by so much, Sturt did not reveal first-class football. Individually West were as good as Sturt, but their weak forward division, in which Bennetts failed, left the team impotent. The match was a poor spectacle, and at no time did the rather meagre attendance get a thrill. Snell, who was suffering from influenza, played a weak game.

HOW PLAYERS' FORM WILL VARY

(By O. J. O'Grady)

The game against G. B. Jenkinson, the Glenelg high-flying ruckman against Torrens last Saturday and North the previous week, provided such a sharp contrast that the student of football form is liable to arrive at a conclusion which may not be quite correct.

In the game against North, Johnston gave an exhibition of high marking probably as good as anything ever seen before. But at Thebarton last Saturday he took only two really spectacular marks, and the people who had gone to this match to see Johnston repeat his dazzling display, were disappointed.

Why is it that a footballer can show such a sharp reversal of form? Williamson, the Torrens captain, has been praised for having subdued Johnston. Those spectators who attribute Johnston's quiet day entirely to Williamson's attention, are, in my opinion, making a mistake.

Williamson certainly shadowed Johnston thoroughly and in addition showed a return to that form which enabled him to do so well with the State side last year. The Torrens captain has been indisposed for the greater part of this season, and actually should not have been playing in some of the games. A continuance of his form of last Saturday probably would gain him a place in the State carnival side.

To say that Williamson subdued Johnston is, in my opinion, only a part truth. It was obvious to me that Johnston was not quite himself, as early in the game Foote, of Torrens, clearly outmarked the Glenelg champion.

Many times during the day Johnston got his hands on the ball, but could not hold it. It must be remembered that footballers are human beings, and human beings have their bright days and their dull days. Johnston's form at Glenelg against North was so phenomenal that some reaction had to be expected.

GLENELG FAIL BY A POINT

In a desperate last-minute rally Port just staved off defeat by Glenelg at Glenelg. Port won by a point.

A. Hooper

Port played great football in the second quarter, outplaying Glenelg in every department. They were faster on the ground, better in the air, and kept their positions well. The game was fast and fairly open throughout, and was marked by many fine bursts of system. A feature of the game was Port's remarkable shooting in the first three quarters. Early accuracy in attack undoubtedly won them the game.

GLENELG.—Backs—R. Rosewarne, James, Wise. Half-backs—Brook, Wells, Griffiths. Centres—Hill, Coleman, Hainstone. Half-forwards—Owens, Sallis, Wundersitz. Forwards—Colyer, C. Rosewarne, Goldsworthy, Ruck, Johnston, Oliver, Link, Stringer (19th).

Stringer (19th) replaced Goldsworthy (injured rib) at the beginning of the last quarter.

PORT.—Backs—West, Gilbert, Wilkinson. Half-backs—H. Quin, Obst, Allingham. Centres—Dehms, Whitaker, Dermody. Half-forwards—A. Hender, Prideaux, Whicker. Forwards—Hooper, Ritch, Reval, Ruck—V. Johnson, Wightman, N. Hender, Terrell (19th).

Terrell (19th) replaced Quin (cramp) in the last quarter.

Umpire—D. Eglington.

Owens (Glenelg) won the toss, and chose the Brighton end, which was favored slightly by a westerly breeze.

The game opened sluggishly. Glenelg were the first to attack, but lack of cohesion among the forwards enabled Obst to clear. Port put in, and rugged work by Reval put Prideaux in possession just in front. The tall recruit opened the scoring with a goal.

Glenelg countered with a point and a major from C. Rosewarne, and Link snapped another goal soon afterwards. The play was dull and uninspiring, with both teams kicking poorly and fumbling the ball.

Marking under the pressure, Glenelg drove in spasmodically, but sure work by Obst, Wilkinson, and Gilbert, who were watching C. Rosewarne closely, kept them out until Colyer broke through with a goal.

Developing better system, Port scored goals from Ritch—who marked nicely in front—and Hooper.

Marking ruggedly within easy range, Reval sent up a goal for Port. Glenelg retaliated with a smart goal from C. Rosewarne. His next shot was not so accurate, but Colyer made amends by snapping full points.

Hasty work by the Glenelg forwards had spoiled many excellent opportunities forward. Marking as the bell rang, Hooper was allowed the kick. He raised both flags.

First Quarter

	G.	B.	Pts.
GLENELG	5	10	40
PORT	5	1	31

Reval scored a goal in remarkable fashion shortly after the resumption. Hooking the ball over his head, it bounced towards the posts over James' head, and went through. Playing aggressively and systematically, Port drove in and A. Hender goal.

Now definitely on top, Port dashed in again. Prideaux, who was shaping well at centre half-forward, booted his second goal. A beautiful shot from 60 yards out by Wightman sailed through a minute later. Port had jumped to a well-earned lead of 21 points.

Port were playing fine, open football, beating their men to the ball and working better for position. Prideaux followed a great mark a few yards out with full points, and cleverly eluding his opponents, punted another on the run.

In contrast with previous wretched forward performances, Port so far had 12 goals and two behinds.

After Colyer had goaled, Glenelg burst in again, but Gilbert marked an accurate shot by Link on the line. He mis-kicked, however, and Griffiths returned it through the goal.

Half-time

	G.	B.	Pts.
PORT	12	2	71
GLENELG	7	12	54

Port set off aggressively, and a nice series of passes carried them to the goalmouth. Whirling out of the crush, Hooper snapped the ball through.

Marking over C. Rosewarne, Gilbert drove Glenelg out, but the Bays came back again, and Owens, freed a yard out, made no mistake. Port replied with full points from Ritch, and Owens goaled again for Glenelg. A magnificent long snap by Wightman went sailing through, and a similar shot by Link called up both flags.

It was accurate shooting for goal. Dashing in strongly, Owens goaled on the run. Sweeping Port off their feet, Glenelg attacked forcefully, and Owens, Johnston, and Colyer goaled.

The home team's kicking had improved out of sight, six goals having come from seven shots. They were now only three points behind.

Points from Sallis and Owens reduced their deficit to a point, but Port won the advantage again with a timely goal from Reval.

Only a point behind after a goal from Link, Glenelg fought desperately but unsuccessfully for the lead.

Third Quarter

	G.	B.	Pts.
PORT	16	5	101
GLENELG	14	16	100

After Port had scored two points a fierce Glenelg onslaught yielded a goal from Coleman, who had been replaced at centre by Sallis.

Port peppered Glenelg's back line, but for the first time their forwards were seen at a disadvantage, two singles being the best they could manage.

When Link goaled, Glenelg had regained the lead, but they lost it immediately afterwards, Ritch goaling for Port. After a period of even play, Owens obtained full points for Glenelg, and Ritch got his fourth goal for Port.

Marking magnificently, Ritch again kicked accurately with a long drop kick, putting Port nine points in front.

A fierce onslaught by Glenelg was capped by a goal from Owens. The same player put Glenelg three points to the good when he kicked truly from an angle.

Port responded with two vigorous advances, but again the forwards let them down, points only resulting. With only a minute to go and a point behind, Port attacked desperately, and rushed a single. The scores were level.

Wightman marked the kick-off, and the crowd held its breath with excitement. He sent the ball well in. The pack fumbled it, and A. Hender dashed in to snap the winning point.

CLOSE-UPS OF LEAGUE FOOTBALLERS

A. Hender

TODAY was the second occasion this year on which A. Hender has saved Port on the bell. When Port drew with Norwood at Alberton, he kicked the goal that equalised the scores as the bell rang. At Glenelg today he snaped the point that gave his team victory.

CLOSELY watched by Gilbert, Rosewarne, Glenelg's champion forward, had a lean day at Glenelg. He did not enter into the game with his usual dash, and failed to reveal the enterprise that usually characterises his play.

HAWKE, the North centreman, played soundly against Torrens after having been out for six weeks with a wrist injury. He took some grand marks, and several times out-distanced the opposition with long-striding rushes.

HOOPER was one of Port's best men at Glenelg. He roved pluckily all day, and his four goals were the result of clever scouting and quick thinking.

REVAL worked hard all day for Port against Glenelg, and took some great marks. Wightman and Obst also did well.

LINK and Colyer, Glenelg's dashing rovers, both finished with four goals against Port. By a coincidence, Hooper, the Port rover, finished with the same tally.

RITCH, a Port recruit, shaped promisingly in front of goal at Glenelg. His brilliant work at critical stages in the last quarter was mainly responsible for Port's victory.

J. Owens

OWENS' six goals for Glenelg against Port was a real captain's effort. He was at his top in the third quarter, when his determined play greatly assisted Glenelg's recovery.

SOUTH have a valuable forward in C. C. Munro, who kicked 10 of his team's 15 goals at Norwood. Munro had kicked 20 goals in six games with the South association team before he was promoted to the senior side today. He had been tried with South before, but had failed because of his poor play in securing possession.
