Port dispel any doubts

By SAM GALLAGHER

Port Adelaide today dispelled any lingering doubts about their ability to make this year's finals with a decisive 58-point win over Norwood at Alberton.

The Magpies, safe in third place, moved two games clear of Glenelg, beaten by West's commanding first half in the heavy going at the Bay.

South joined Glenelg and Norwood, equal in fourth place with 10 wins each, but only after Torrens had given them some anxious moments at Adelaide.

South's strong last quarter turned defeat into victory.

At Woodville, the home team, at the bottom of the premiership table, gave league leaders Sturt the shock of their lives in a thrilling game that ended in a draw.

North had the biggest win of the day, going right away from Centrals to finish 90 points up.

Norwood dropped to sixth place behind South on percentage as a result of today's games.

Percentage

It is possible that fourth place will be decided on percentage.

If Glenelg, South and Norwood each win one of the remaining two games, the Bays' better percentage would take them into the finals.

If Norwood beat Centrals at Norwood next week they could move ahead of Glenelg and South into fourth place.

The Bays meet Sturt

at Unley and South clash with West at Adelaide.

Both South and Norwood must win at least one more game than Glenelg to overcome the Bays' superior percentage.

This means that Norwood must win the last match at the Bay and, assuming the Redlegs win next week, it also places the onus on South to win their last two against West and Port.

The probability is that the winner of the Norwood-Glenelg game will be the fourth team in the major round.

Decisive

How far the last side in will go is doubtful in view of Port's convincing win today.

The Magpies, with John Cahill in devastating form and getting more from their half-forward line, swept Norwood aside with a fine display of strength and teamwork.

At Glenelg, another determined second half by the Tigers was not sufficient to overcome West's clear first half superiority.

De Broughe gave West the edge in ruck and Bray again showed his ability in the heavy going to hold centre half-back throughout.

West today justified the opinion that they would play a strong role in shaping the final four.

Their game against South at Adelaide next week should be a thriller.

South today had to go flat out to take the points from Torrens, inspired by brilliant roving display from Lindsay Head.

The switch of Peter Darley and Roger Howe to half-forward in the last term was decisive.

Woodville played great football to make Sturt struggle to a draw.

A clear win across centre gave the home side a springboard into attack.

The shift of Shearman to the pivot in the third term and Hicks to roving were significant moves by the Blues. It could have been pointers to their line-up for the finals.

DETERMINED WEST TAME BAYS

By BILL HENDERSON

West's greater determination and approach allowed them to outplay Glenelg with brilliant play-on football at Glenelg Oval today.

West had winners all over the ground, but the Bays relied on a few, led by Kerley in ruck as a follower.

Although the Bays' skipper was brilliant at times with his field play, West still won in ruck and were better served with their ability to take the ball away.

Fortunately for West the ground was not in the poor condition expected.

Consequently, their handball and short game was executed to the fullest.

Immediately the game started, Kerley roughed up a West player, hoping that West would come back and frees would come Glenelg's way.

It had some effect, for a few minutes but West snapped out of it and began to play good open football.

Glenelg had as many opportunities in this term to score, but West delivered the ball better and were steadier under pressure.

	1st	2nd	3rd	Final	Pts.
West	4-0	10-2	12-9	13-10	88
Glenelg	0-3	4-8	6-8	10-14	74

bury or Button was allowed to break into the clear.

Glenelg's effort in almost matching West's second term score was due mainly to Kerley's brilliance in driving them in from his field play.

He made many opportunities for his forwards and when they did get the ball to Hamilton this player showed fight to finish off their work.

But West matched every goal the Bays scored with one from themselves, and they showed signs in this term of collaring the game.

The Bays opened the third term poorly. It took them eight minutes to score their first goal through Phillis.

West were playing well within themselves, but mixed their brilliant passages of play with loose shooting for goals.

Sims, their full forward, who had shown more fire in his play, missed a sitter when running freely into an open goal.

Decisive

West only managed two goals in this term, but their play was more decisive than the Bays', to give them a winning break to come home with.

Glenelg came home well, replacing Moroney with Moss, who did give some assistance to Kerley, who was playing a lone hand in ruck.

Again the Bays let themselves down with poor kicking. Had they converted more of their shots they could have made a game of it.

Their main stumbling block in the last term was Jeff Bray at centre half-back who finished well to be West's best player.

He let Phillis get away from him in the third term at times, but in the first half he broke up many Bay attacks.

He received great assistance from Loveday who did not allow Button to break free.

Don Roach in the first half gave plenty of drive from centre wing. With Hooper and Pannenburg, Roach was fed well by the rucks.

DeBroughe played like a man inspired. He positioned himself well, used his body to hold his ground and consequently sent his team on their winning way.

Milsom was another who gave great drive. His overhead marking was too strong for the Bays.

West had many good players but mention must be made of Sims at full forward. He showed more determination, and better ground play to finish off his term's thrusts.

Glenelg did not have many outstanding players and to name their best after the first three was difficult.

Neil Kerley gave the game everything.

Ron Rowe played strongly in the back pocket.

The other player prominent was Voigt at centre wing.

Jeff Bray

West's backline was doing much better than the Bays. Neither Anes-
