TOP FIVE OPEN TWO-POINT GAP

3 reported at Thebarton

By SAM GALLAGHER

Comfortable wins to the favorites in all five games of today's league round opened up a two point gap between the top five and the rest.

Glenelg, still undefeated, boosted their percentage with a powerful 126-point victory over Woodville.

In their bid to complete the first round without loss, the Tigers have two tough ones coming up, North at Glenelg, and Port at Alberton.

Both will be stern tests but the Bays' all-round strength and their ability to play four consistent quarters could see them through without loss.

Today Glenelg conceded Woodville first use of the breeze, outscored them narrowly in the first quarter and swamped them with a 10-6 second quarter burst.

"Fred" Phillis kicked eight goals to take his season's total to 36 at an average of six per match.

OUTCLASSED

At Adelaide, Sturt retained second place on percentage when they outclassed South to win by 81 points.

South again started without Peter Darley whose run of injuries begins to look ominous with the Australian championships only a month away. South did well to hold Sturt to a 20-point lead after the Blues had won the toss but they failed completely to follow up when they turned with the breeze.

The Panthers could manage only four points and Sturt administered the coup de grace with a seven-goal third term.

DASHING

Mick Nunan, making a strong claim for a permanent place in the side was Sturt's best with a dashing roving display.

West avenged their pre-season defeat by Torrens when they raced away from the Eagles at Thebarton after an even first quarter.

Torrans started without Birt and their first term inaccuracy left them open to West's strong second quarter with the breeze.

The Red-and-Blacks, with Bob Day in command at centre, were not seriously threatened thereafter and won by nine goals.

At Norwood, the Red-legs seemed to be well in it at the first change although North led by 41 points.

The wind was a strong influence and Robran, the big danger to Norwood, had been eclipsed in the first quarter.

But Norwood could not crack the solid North defence, brilliantly led by Jaworskyj, and when Robran came into his own in the second term, the Redlegs with the breeze made no headway

North went further ahead in the third term and only an enthusiastic Redleg finish redeemed the game as a contest.

RUN DOWN

Typically, Port's defence in the first quarter paved the way for their win over Central Districts.

Centrals won the toss, but led by only 12 points and were run down by the Magpies 6-8 in a powerful second term.

In addition to the Glenelg-North clash at the Bay next week, Port meet West at Adelaide in what should be another great game with the Magpies out to reverse the opening game result at Alberton and establish a firmer foothold in the top four.

Tigers' power play shattered W'ville

By GERRY HARRISON

With an exhibition of powerful, cohesive football Glenelg took control from the outset to completely outclass a disappointing Woodville at Glenelg Oval today.

Although kicking into a stiff breeze in the first quarter, the Bays set the pattern of things to come as they moved the ball about with great dexterity and immediately had Woodville non-plussed.

Although Woodville received a lift from McKellar in ruck and Barbary at centre wing to pull up with the Bays at the first break, they were really never in the hunt.

When the Bays started the second term with the wind at their backs, they treated their supporters to a football feast.

With all players getting utmost value from their kicks and offering first class tandem support the Bays proceeded to kick 10-6 for the quarter to a pathetic two points in reply by Woodville.

The remainder of the game was much the same pattern as Glenelg continued to bombard the goals and brush Woodville aside.

Eustice and Rosewarne held sway across centre

	1st	2nd	3rd	Final	Pts.
Glen.	4-2	14-8	22-12	27-24	186
W'ville	4-1	4-3	9-5	9-6	60

and with run-on players Kerley and Button picking up kicks almost at will Glenelg maintained attacking pressure throughout.

Neil Kerley

With this incessant pressure on the Woodville defence Glenelg forward players ran riot combining well as they kept on the move and used constructive handball.

Their half-forward line was always on top with Moss acting as a traffic-cop in the key position and Marker and Hamilton displaying a combination of pace, strong marking, and handball.

The crippling factor from a Woodville point of view was the dangerous Phillis at the goalfront.

He grabbed some magnificent marks in giving his side a reliable target to shoot at and finished with a splendid 8-4.

The ruck encounters finished Glenelg's way but strangely the rovers of neither side were hardly sighted in general field play.

Woodville's only ruck strength was McKellar who more than held his own when on the ball and withstood well the check side tactics employed by Glenelg to counter him.

Basically the difference between the two sides was in their respective approaches — Woodville lacked fight and determination whereas every Glenelg player was "ball hungry" and displayed a determined approach to satisfy that lust.

This approach instigated the run in the Bay game and led to the clockwork backing-up all over the ground to which Woodville had no answer.

In picking Glenelg's best players it was difficult to separate several but eventually Kerley received the palm for a typical captain-coach's game, being in complete control at all stages.

Eustice was back to his old form, being always creative, particularly from his understanding with the half-forwards in moving downfield to deliver the ball to Phillis.

The whole Glenelg side, in fact, deserves a mention as they all produced the necessary requirements at the right time.

Conversely it was a sad day for Woodville as they had only a mere handful of players who endeavored to pull them out of the doldrums.

McKellar stood out for his ruck effort and Holland, in his unaccustomed role at half-forward and later in his usual back pocket, produced a creditable performance.

THE position has never been happier down the Bay way—last week they made history by making the score five wins in a row for their best ever start to a season.

Today they not only made it six in a row, but kicked what is believed to be their highest ever score and also recorded their biggest winning margin. Both are subject to a search of the records.
