Glenelg were held scoreless in the first quarter, piled on 12-9 in the second term, and maintained control to record a surprisingly comfortable win over Sturt at Football Park yesterday.

The Tigers' explosive second quarter was their highest-ever scoring term against the Blues.

The match-winning burst was inspired by big ruckman Peter Carey, elusive follower Nev Caldwell, and dynamic little rover Kym Hodgeman, who repeatedly whipped the ball away from the centre bounces to set up opportunities for team-mates.

Sturt had gained the initial advantage by captain Paul Bagshaw winning the toss and kicking with the aid of a strong wind to the northern end.

The Blues dominated the first quarter in impressive fashion, but 3-4 was not sufficient reward for the chances they had, plus the wind assistance.

Glenelg, who had offered some desperate defence in the opening term, suddenly cut loose with the type of irresistible football that has swept them to the past three grand finals.

Sturt were left floundering as they scrambled only two goals compared with the Tigers' 21 scoring shots.

Glenelg players walked off at half-time to a standing ovation, leading by 47 points, and you could sense it was all over.

And so it proved, although Sturt would have been in a reasonable position at the last change if they had not kicked so inaccurately (2-11).

They added a further 3-6 in the last quarter, leaving them to conduct a post-mortem on a second half in which they kicked 5-17—inexcusable inaccuracy for a side which has prided itself on its kicking ability over the years...

...and one which places so much emphasis on goal-kicking practice on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

It remains to be seen how long Sturt will persist with Rick Davies at centre half-forward and Paul Bagshaw at half-forward right.

Neither placing was successful yesterday. Davies had his moments, but is obviously more suited to "doing his own thing" on the ball, as he showed late in the second quarter and again in the last term.

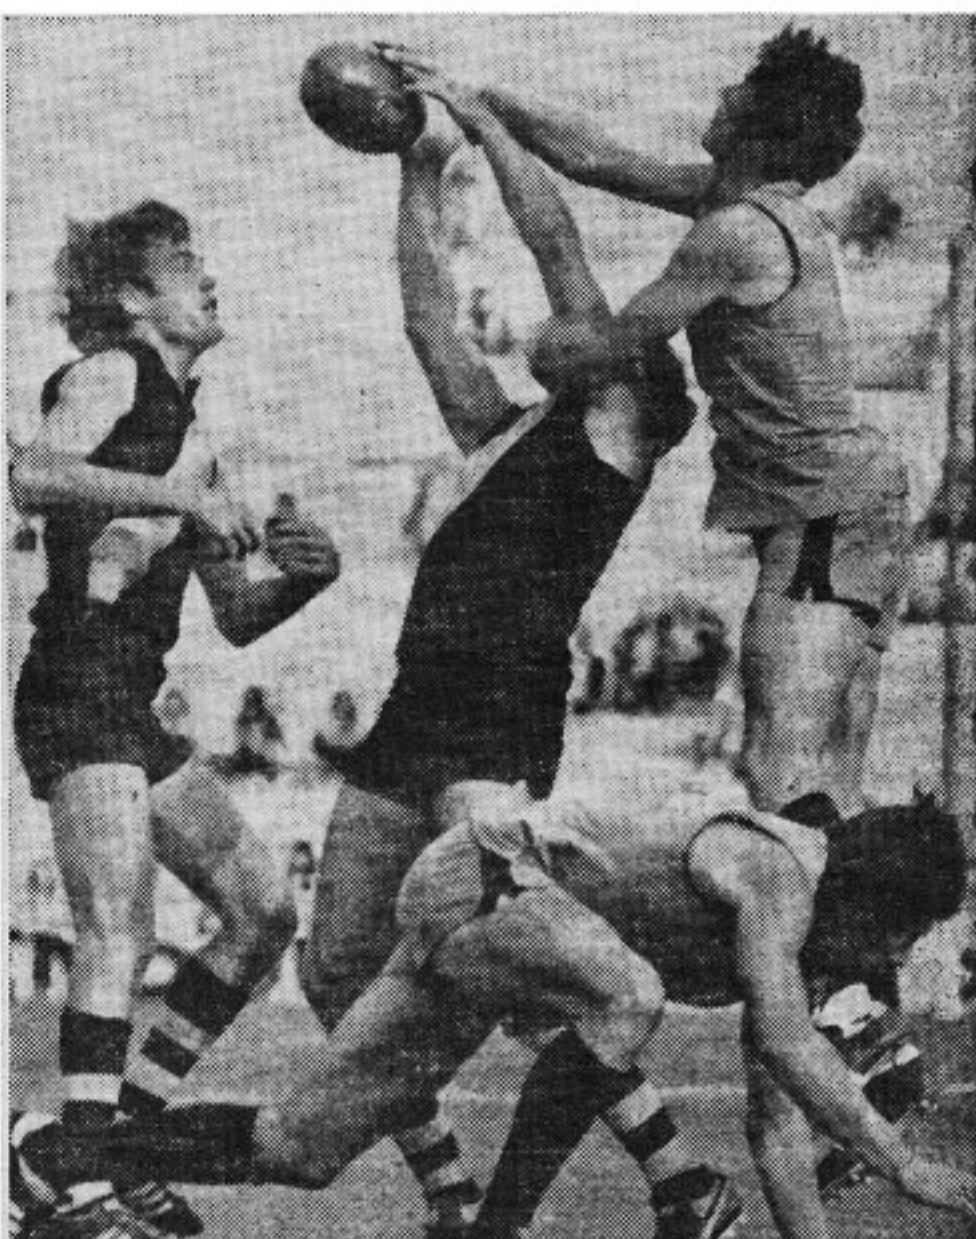

And Bagshaw only showed out in the last quarter when he played as a follower.

That Glenelg could kick 21 goals with only one effective forward-flanker,

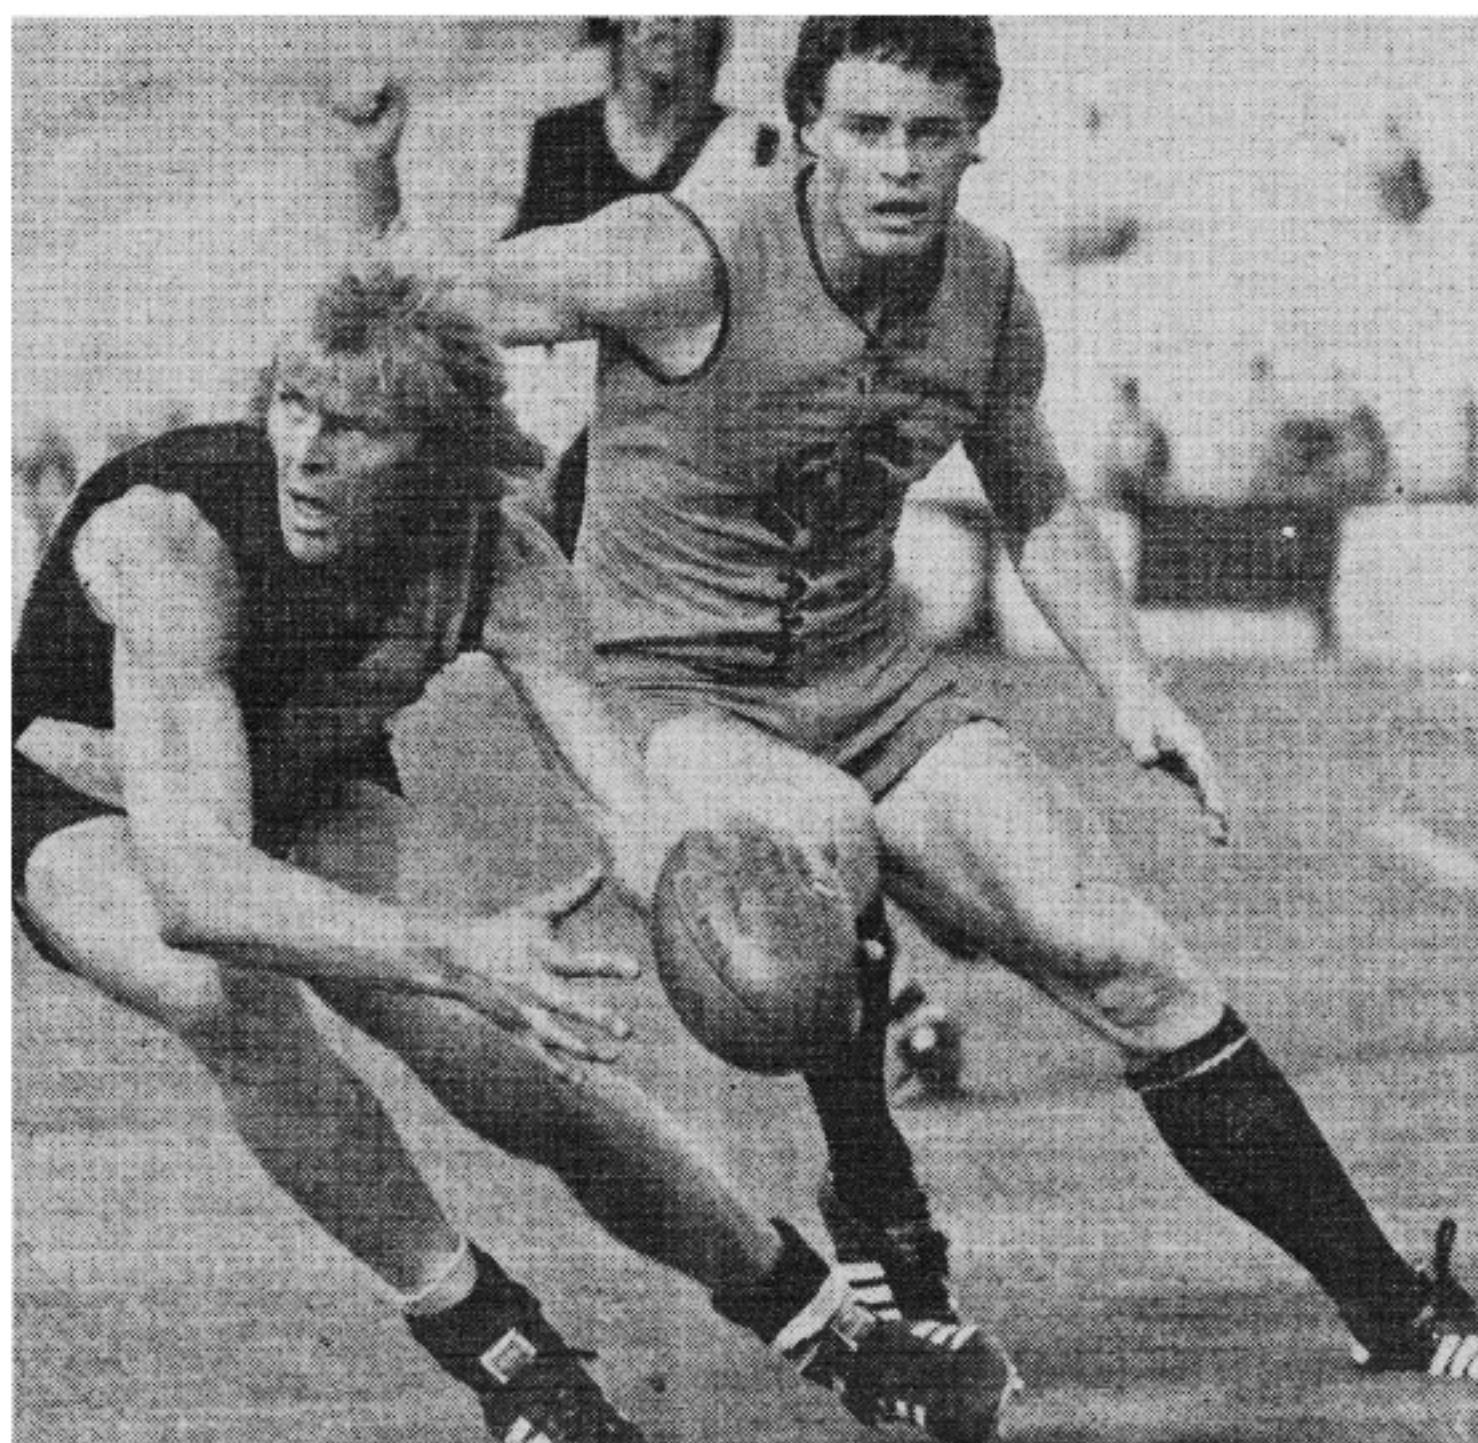

Stephen Copping, was a tribute to the Tigers' wide scoring potential.

Centreman Peter Marker, who played an inspiring game, and in-form followers Graham Cornes and Caldwell each kicked three goals, as did left-footer Colin Anderson, who replaced rover Peter McInerney, early in the last quarter.

Carey and Hodgeman booted two each, apart from also making a massive contribution to a very convincing win.

STURT winger Tony Burgan has one arm for the ball and one to wrap around Brian Colbey's neck in the clash at Football Park yesterday. Burgan's teammate Rick Davies takes a tumble, as Glenelg's Paul Weston looks on.

THE savage grace of a Tiger in for the kill as Graham Cornes comes away with the ball at Football Park yesterday. Sturt back pocket John Hunt can only dig in his toes and hope he can stay with the Glenelg champion.—All Sunday Mail football pictures by Dennis Rogers and Ray Titus.

BIG Tiger full forward Fred Phillis shows he can still make a metre as he tackles Sturt back pocket John Hunt at Football Park yesterday. Only trouble was Hunt didn't have the ball.
