Desperate days for West

By PETER PRIME

West Adelaide is in dire straits... six games into the 1993 season!

Classy Glenelg plunged the Bloods further into the depths of despair yesterday with a 71-point belting at Football Park - 24.19 (163) to 13.14 (92).

Now, Neil Kerley's West sits uncomfortably near the foot of the premiership table and already faces an uphill battle to make the finals.

At Richmond during the week there was talk of player meetings and a combined resolve to find that winning spark. Sad to relate West was dealt yet another football lesson yesterday.

Glenelg, efficient, industrious and fierce in its desire, was just too strong all over the ground.

Now, it is readying itself for an almighty clash with reigning SANFL team Port Adelaide at the Bay next Saturday - a real acid test for Mark Williams's combination.

Among the Tiger players to take centre stage yesterday were livewire youngster Craig McRae, who used his blistering pace and skills to bag five goals, and Jim West, who was superb in defence, pulling down 13 big marks and providing enormous rebound.

Then there was courageous captain Nick Chigwidden, who gathered numerous possessions, and spearhead Mark Russell, who finished with five goals in a fine display.

That Glenelg defensive unit was particularly tough and dependable. Aggressive Mark Viska made an impression across half-back, along with Robbie Thompson in a back pocket, the experienced Greg Whittlesea and young Hamish Stuart, who had the better of dangerous West forward Greg Mellor.

In short, the Bloods relied on too few. Darren Carlson was an exception picking up 24 kicks, three marks and nine handballs, while Paul Patterson was a fine contributor at centre half-back and later up forward. Skipper Leon Grosser, defender Matthew Simpson and Mark Kennedy were best of the others.

On a positive note, a helmeted Mark Mickan got through the game well after breaking his jaw in a pre-season training mishap with the Crows.
