WARREN PARTLAND

GLENELG'S finals hopes hang in the balance following a eight-point loss to Norwood in the penultimate minor round at Brighton Rd last night.

The fifth-placed Tigers are just a game above Woodville-West Torrens with Port Adelaide a game further back and still alive in the race for the a top five spot.

The Eagles can climb level with the Tigers with a win over Sturt tomorrow.

The Redlegs, who have the bye next week, claimed their 18th win and will finish the minor round at least eight points clear of their nearest rival.

Both sides were forced to go into the encounter without key defenders after Sam Rudolph was ruled out of the Tigers outfit and Redlegs' defensive marshal Dean Terlich was a late withdrawal.

The Tigers lost another key position player just a few minutes into the battle when Daniel Kirk was assisted from the ground after hurting his ankle in a marking contest.

Glenelg went into the game as the underdog but it had the opening goal after only a minute when debutant James Hinge nailed a major with just his second kick in league footy.

But the Redlegs responded with a Ben Warren goal two minutes later and then Tom Langford registered a typical Norwood goal when he ran onto a long kick into space inside the attacking 50. Everything the Tigers did was under pressure from a disciplined opposition whose committed defensive tactics were an issue for the home side.

Crows-listed Luke Brown showcased his potential late in the opening term when he beat three opponents before clearing the ball from the danger zone.

The match slumped into a lacklustre spectacle in the second quarter with both sides guilty of sloppy turnovers and a flood of skill errors.

But Glenelg lifted the intensity and was able to pin Norwood in its defensive area for lengthy passages, only to waste opportunities with poor delivery into attack.

Jarryd Lyons had a massive influence for the Tigers on the ball, Kane Tenace continued his solid form on a half-back flank and Glenelg's pressure sparked uncertainty among the Redlegs.

The scoreboard truly reflected the scrappy game with the two sides adding just two behinds each for the quarter.

And that trend stretched into the third quarter as both sides struggled for cohesion.
