Bays get four-quarter effort

JESPER FJELDSTAD

GLENELG'S persistence has finally brought home the bacon as the Bays upset Central District by 29 points yesterday.

The Bays had slipped to second-bottom on the ladder and with their only victory against the winless West Adelaide.

But they have been putting themselves in winning positions, only to let matches slip. This time, they ran all day and were a treat to watch.

Warrick McGinity was outstanding, doing well both in the ruck and around the ground. A highlight was when he was part of a wild dash down the grandstand flank that resulted in a Josh Scott goal. Big McGinity was the Man of the Bay.

One of the benefactors of his work was Matthew Snook, who made a huge contribution and just didn't stop getting a glove on the ball.

For football beauty there were Terry Milera and Willie Rioli, who contributed both with sure goals and eye-catching dashes.

It didn't come without a fright, because the Bulldogs have plenty of talent and are good runners.

The Dogs were served well by players Justin Hoskin and Travis Schiller, who seemed to be around every contest and at least broke even, but there were several Central players who were down on the day.

Ruckman Darcy Fort was another who impressed both by breaking even with McGinity in the ruck and his marks in the back half when he dropped back. Glenelg coach Matthew Lokan was as relieved as he was pleased afterwards; finally, they had put a full game together again.

"To be able to do it consistently over four quarters is something we've struggled with," Lokan said. "But I thought this game we did it really well."

"Obviously with the wind we outscored them quite heavily but also into the wind."

"I think the pleasing thing was that we were able to stick to what we wanted to achieve."

Central District coach Roy Laird needed little time to find where the Bulldogs had let themselves down, and the chief one was the lack of physicality.

He also pointed to the number of players who were passengers.

"It was born from just a lack of physicality," Laird said.

"They were tougher than us today and up for the fight more than we were, which was a significant disappointment in our game."

"There were too many blokes down on the day and you just can't carry that many non-performers."
